

Katherine Radeka of Whittier Consulting group has been very helpful in supporting our transition toward lean new product development. Her Lean Roadmap Session gave us the opportunity for the full Engineering Management group to become aligned on a lean vision and the lean tools that will work best in our environment.

The A-3 Training and Visual Project Management workshop allowed us to truly start the application of these lean tools without spinning our wheels on where to begin. Katherine added coaching sessions to place emphasis on managing the sustaining part of the newly introduced tools. Katherine has helped us develop key examples of lean success which demonstrate our commitment and has supported us to the point where we are able to sustain the momentum ourselves going forward.
